Butter Braised Sole

Sauté 2 minutes, or until the chard wilts.

Remove from the pan and set aside.

Back in the pan, add the wine and let reduce 20 seconds.

Fold your sole fillets into little rolls and place in the pan.

Season with a pinch of salt and pepper, and then place two lemon slices on each fillet.

Place the lid on the pan and braise the fish for three minutes, until cooked through and flaky.

Carefully remove the fish fillets from the pan and set aside.

To the reduced wine, add the lemon juice, butter and minced parsley.

Whisk until melted and combined; let simmer for one minute.

Serve each sole fillet over a bed of Swiss chard and drizzled with the lemon butter sauce.

Serve immediately!
